Exquisite Beauty in New England Decorative Introductions

For true Charm and Color one naturally turns to the Decorative Types and usually to those of Medium Size. New England growers have introduced many beautiful, artistic, and outstanding varieties. You will find great pleasure in growing New England introductions.

LADY DAINTY (Clark) 1929. A Decorative Saundersii hybrid. At the 1928 Exhibition of the N. E. G. S., this seedling won the N. E. G. S. Silver Medal as best Primulinus seedling, the American Gladiolus Society Silver Medal as the best seedling of all types in the show, and an Award of Merit. Each $.15 Dozen $1.50. "Lady Dainty, I would say is the most beautiful Gladiolus, as a cut flower, that I have ever seen."—Franklin B. Mead.

PRINCESS MAFALDA (Clark) 1929. Blossoms orange pink, shading into light coral red, lower lip yellow shading into coral red and striped with narrow red lines. A most artistic Decorative variety that makes up into an exquisite bouquet or into a prize winning basket. Each $.15. Dozen $1.50.

PRINCESS GIOVANNA (Clark) 1930. Pale red orange, streaked lightly with lighter orange red. Each $.10. Dozen $1.00.

PRINCESS IOLANDA (Clark) 1933. Pale red orange, a little darker at tips. Pale yellow blotch extending into throat. Very delicate coloring and most artistic shape. Each $.15. Dozen $1.50.

PRINCESS MARIA (Clark) 1933. Pink. Very Early. Wonderful propagator. Most satisfactory cut flower. Each $.10. Dozen $1.00.

MARY DAMARIS (Clark) 1936. Medium Decorative. Very clear light yellow. First prize N. E. G. S. 1935. Each $.25. Dozen $2.50.

ELLA MAY (Clark) 1936. Small Decorative. Pure pink and white. First prize N. E. G. S. 1935. Each $.25. Dozen $2.50. Prof. Mervyn T. Bailey considers "Ella May as possibly more beautiful than Lady Dainty."

Four African Gladiolus Species

that are summer blooming and a source of delight in the garden, and win Medals at Exhibitions:

Psittacinus (Parrot's head), red and yellow, hooded. Each $.15. Dozen $1.50.
